Orange County Historian Recognizes Village of Florida
Historian for Years of Service
Gary Randall Held Position for 21 Years

Goshen – Village of Florida Historian Gary Randall has been witness to plenty of history being made in and around the Village, Orange County, the state, and the nation in his 21 years serving as Village of Florida Historian.

At a recent meeting at the Orange County Historian's Office held at the 1841 Courthouse in Goshen, County Historian Cornelia Bush recognized Mr. Randall for his 21 years of service and thanked him for his commitment to preserving local history. In presenting Mr. Randall with a certificate of appreciation, Ms. Bush remarked, "Gary has given unstintingly of himself over the years, and his service to the community is to be commended."

Mr. Randall will continue to serve as president of the Florida Historical Society.

Florida resident William "J.R." Pillmeier will assume the position of Village of Florida Historian.
